Chief’s Top 10 Reasons to join the UW EM Residency Program

10. Event medicine on the field at UW Badger football games at Camp Randall Stadium.

9. Madison is a fantastic and livable city. Whether you like outdoorsy type things or city life, Madison has it all. Madison has recently been named one of the top cities for biking in the nation.

8. Work at one of the premier hospitals in the Midwest, which serves as the tertiary care center for the entire state and northern Illinois. Additionally you spend time in a community setting in southern Wisconsin and at the VA, giving our residents a wide variety of patient populations.

7. As an Intern on your very first shift you could be seeing the sickest patient in the ED, of course with support from senior residents and faculty.

6. Numerous global health opportunities with established international experience in Africa and Central America, as well as access to the School of Public Health.

5. Dedicated Pediatric EM faculty, with both a focused and longitudinal Pediatric EM experience make the Peds experience exceptional at the UW- American Family Children’s Hospital. Few other rotating residents make the experience robust and autonomous for EM residents.

4. Young and charismatic faculty who come from a diverse set of backgrounds. The faculty at UW are dedicated to resident education and have come from all over the country to be involved with this residency program.

3. As a PGY3, you will have the ability to supervise junior residents and coordinate the flow of the Emergency Department. There are also dedicated shifts where your job is to run the resuscitation team for all critical patients in the ED as well as manage traumas head-to-toe in the ED.

2. The ability to fly as a solo Medflight physician with our Helicopter-EMS program during your PGY-2 and 3 year!

1. If you come to UW, you will immediately join a tight knit family, where residents and faculty are warm supportive and have a strong sense of camaraderie. On shift we are colleagues and off shift we are friends, this program will guide you and support you to be the best EM provider you can be.